▲ 高山族 □ 平埔族

Today, there are thirteen officially recognized aboriginal ethnic groups in Taiwan: ▲ Atayal (泰雅族), Saisiyat (賽夏族), Bunun (布農族), Tsou (鄒族), Paiwan (排灣族), Rukai (魯凱族), Puyuma (卑南族), Amis (阿美族), Tao (達悟族 or Yami 雅美族), Thao (邵族), Truku (太魯閣), Kavalan (噶瑪蘭族), and Sakizaya (撒奇萊雅), with a total population of about 482,000 living primarily in the mountain areas.

In addition, there are eight groups categorized as pingpu (plains) peoples (平埔族), namely, Ketagalan (凱特格蘭族), Taokas (道卡斯族), Pazeh (巴宰族), Papora (拍瀑拉族), Babuza (巴布沙族), Hoanya (洪雅族), Siraya (西拉雅族), and the above-mentioned Kavalan (噶瑪蘭族). These people live mostly in low-land areas and have been largely assimilated into Han society.
